PERSONAL PROFILE STATEMENT

Working hard throughout university made me realize how much I really enjoy teaching. I am very passionate about teaching English to other students due to knowing how important it is to learn another language that is known all over the world. I find that learning English from a young age helps children/ growing adults (teenagers) to develop a better understanding of how the world works. As the saying goes ‘if you know one language you are one person, two languages makes you two people ‘. I find that even though children learn languages from a young age, it is a vital necessity in today’s world to know English. English is spoken in 67 countries all over the world. In order to gain a better start in life I am very committed to helping these children/ young adults gain this advantage, not only to enable them to secure a good job but also to help them speak a language which is used internationally for communication via media and the internet too. Teaching English is a highly rewarding job not only helping children grow physically but also mentally. Being able to make a difference in someone’s life is the most satisfying fulfilling experience which I do wholeheartedly. I feel that my greatest strengths are my ability to understand and meet the needs of individual children and families. Having a clear importance of confidentiality and being able to provide a stimulating caring and consistent environment for pupils.
